Privacy Policy

The information on this Web page describes the practices of The Inkwell, Inc. with respect to the collection of user information from this Web site and the use and disclosure of such information. This document only applies to this Web site and does not address information we obtain from places other than our Web site. In addition, other SCI sites and other sites on the Web (including those we link to) have their own practices; in all cases we encourage you to ask questions and to provide data only to sites whose practices you understand and trust.

Collection of information

We collect non-personally identifiable information about you in a number of ways, including tracking your activities through your IP address or most-recently visited URL. However, we do not collect any personally identifiable information about you unless you voluntarily submit such information to us, such as by filling out a form or survey, entering a contest or sweepstakes, registering your email address with us or emailing us.

We do not wish to obtain personally identifiable information from children who are using our site unsupervised. Thus, we ask children to obtain the consent of their parent or guardian before providing us with any personally identifiable information.

The Inkwell reserves the right to use information collected within our Web site for our business purposes. If you provide us with information such as telephone number, mailing address, or email address, we may contact you via the provided medium.

We do not make available any information that we collect from you to any organizations or companies other than our affiliates.

Disclosure of information

Unless we tell you otherwise, we do not sell or rent your personally identifiable information to any third parties. However, we might share your personally identifiable information with other Inkwell companies, affiliates or partners, and we may sell and rent aggregated (non-personally identifiable) information about our users generally.

Use of information

We use personally identifiable and non-personally identifiable information for internal marketing purposes and for site administration. However, unless we tell you otherwise, we usually do not use personally identifiable information collected from the Web site to send unsolicited mailings to you. Of course, if applicable, we do use personally identifiable information to perform the services for which such data was collected (i.e., if you sign up for an email newsletter, we will send the email newsletter to the address you provide us).

Security

We use industry-standard methods to protect your personally identifiable information from unauthorized access. Among other techniques, we usually store such information on a computer behind our firewall in a secure location, and we often restrict the number of administrators and/or employees internally who can access such data. Of course, there is no such thing as perfect security on the Internet. Further, please note that a third-party Web host, whose actions we do not control, operates our servers.
